BURLEY COUNTIES PLACED IN DISTRICTS

Mr. Burnam's Committee Places
Madison With Four Others
—22 Are Formed

The burley tobacco area of Kentucky, Ohio, and Indiana was divided into twenty-two districts Saturday night by the committee on districting and elections, but the date of the elections was not agreed upon, but left to a later meeting of the committee, says the Leader.

Decision in the matter of the districting came after three days of deliberation, in which effort was made to harmonize all differences of opinion as to what was best to be done in the alignment of the counties with each other. The committee's decision was unanimous and came after three days of deliberation.

The committee is composed of T. S. Burnam, of Madison county, chairman; Bush W. Allen, of Mercer; Martin L. Harris, of Indiana; Albert Day, of Mason; Joseph Passonneau, organization manager, of Fayette county.

The counties of Fayette, Bourbon, Shelby, Mason and Scott are made separate districts. Another district is composed of the counties of Ohio in the burley belt, and still another is composed of the Indiana counties. The districts are finally agreed upon and announced Saturday night, are as follows:

The Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, which finished its preliminary work last week by the pooling of more than 180,000,000 pounds of tobacco of the less than 210,000,000 pounds grown in the burley district in 1920, is the largest single co-operative association in the world, with 42,000 members and the probability that it can have between 8,000 and 10,000 more if it decides to permit those who so far have failed to sign up their crops with the association to come into the organization.

The association covers probably wider territory than any other co-operative body. It includes the counties of Anderson, Barren, Bath, Boone, Bourbon, Boyle, Brecken, Bullitt, Carroll, Carter, Casey, Clark, Cumberland, Fayette, Fleming, Franklin, Gallatin, Garrard, Grant, Grayson, Green, Harlan, Hart, Henry, Jefferson, Jessamine, Kenton, Larnie, Lewis, Lincoln, Madison, Marion, Mason, Meade, Mercer, Metcalfe, Montgomery, Nelson, Nicholas, Oldham, Owen, Pendleton, Powell, Robertson, Scott, Shelby, Spencer, Trimble, Washington, and Woodford, in Kentucky; Clark, Dearborn, Franklin, Jefferson, Ohio, and Switzerland, in Indiana; Madison, Cabell, Wayne and Clermont, in West Virginia; Brown, Adams, Clermont, Gallia, and perhaps others in Ohio, and three counties in Tennessee, which raise about eight or ten million pounds. The production of the entire district ranges from 170,000,000 pounds in the poor years to 300,000,000 pounds when there is a full average and crop conditions are favorable.

Arion Sapiro, the California lawyer and co-operative genius, under whose guidance the burley growers have organized, has said that it would be worth twenty and thirty millions of dollars to the tobacco men to form an organization for the orderly mar-

DR. JOHN BURNAM DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Relatives here were grieved to receive news Monday afternoon of the death of Dr. John Miller Burnam. He died at the home of Mr. Allen E. Burnam, at Pomona, California. His funeral will be held there Wednesday, relatives say. Dr. Burnam was widely related in Madison county. He had been in ill health for sometime.

Harvard won from Yale 10 to 3. Centre won from Harvard. This puts the Danville eleven on top of 'em all.

Letting of their crops. This statement of Sapiro's has been borne out by the fact that tobacco which sold on the Lexington market in January, 1921, for two or three cents a pound has been sold by speculators who bought it at 12 to 18 cents a pound when the manufacturers happened to want that kind of tobacco. It is believed the growers lost twenty million dollars in Kentucky alone last year by their inability to hold their crop off the market, as many of their leaders advised them to do.

Under the new system of marketing the growers will be enabled to hold their crops indefinitely, almost, for with government aid in financing, there is little doubt the organization will be able to make a substantial advance to the grower when he delivers his tobacco. Experts do not believe it will be many months before the manufacturers come with request for prices and the prediction has been made that after a fair trial of the system, neither tobacco growers nor manufacturers will do business on any other basis.

The new association has considerable work to do before it can get started in business. It must be incorporated, it must divide its territory into districts, and elect 22 directors, one from each district, and three directors-at-large to be named by the other directors. It must have a manager, a secretary and an office force. It will be strictly a selling and not a holding corporation and those who have observed the workings of other co-operative associations predict success for this newest and largest of them all from the start. It is probable the new association will be ready for business by December 15, a month from the date of its successful signing up of the crop.

"Every committee is busily at work on the city assigned," said Organization Manager Joseph Passonneau, of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, Saturday, when asked what were the developments, if any, in the tobacco situation.

"We are doing our best to do what is best for all the growers," Mr. Passonneau continued. "The number of persons interested directly, the still larger number interested indirectly and the effect upon the entire business element of the burley district made it imperative that we proceed carefully and cautiously. We are endeavoring to do that and to consider every possible advantage for the new association in what we shall do in the committees."

Warehousemen To Meet

Tobacco warehousemen of the burley district, including representatives from Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and possibly Tennessee, will be in Lexington Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock to confer with the warehouse committee of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, which has been instructed by the organization committee of the association to negotiate with the warehousemen for the purchase, lease or renting of their warehouses for the receiving, storing and grading of the tobacco signed by the growers to the association.

GOVERNOR'S RACE MAY COME TO FRONT

When Democrats Gather Next Week—Shackelford One of Eight "Mentioned"

Louisville, Nov. 21—When Judge Charles A. Herdin, as Chairman of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committee, issued his call for a conference of Kentucky Democrats to be conducted in Louisville November 30, he summoned what promises to be one of the most interesting political meetings ever known in Kentucky and one that may be expected to have a far reaching effect upon state matters. That it will influence the tides of legislation at the coming session of the General Assembly of Kentucky is said to be certain.

The meeting will be conducted in the auditorium of a Louisville hotel and will bring together Democrats, men and women, from every part of Kentucky. It will be the most representative Democratic gathering of this state that has been assembled in Kentucky, as it is selected without regard to factions.

The Democratic State Committee, the Senators and Congressmen and all the Democratic members of the next legislature have been invited. All the Democratic editors of Kentucky have been bidden also. In addition to these, 600 Democratic men and women, who are without official position in the party but are recognized as leaders, have been asked to attend. It is believed the attendance will reach 1000.

Many side lines of interest will add to the piquancy of this Democratic family party and among them will be the kick-off for the gubernatorial race of 1923. At the Democratic who have been groomed for Governor, who have been suspected of chiseling ambitions, or who are considered to be likely starters for the nomination, are expected to attend and it is planned to call on them for speeches. Among those who are placed in the "prospective Governor" class are four members of Congress, Campbell Cantrill, M. W. Barkley, W. J. Fields and David Kinchen. Others are former Attorney General James Garratt, Rodes Shackelford, Desha Breckinridge and Dr. Alexander.

The conference will not be limited to those to whom formal invitations are issued. Any Democrat who wishes to take part will be welcome.

BANKERS PLAN TO FINANCE BIG POOL

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 21—Heads of all Louisville banks will meet today with the Finance Committee of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association to arrange tentative plans for the financing of the 1921 crop, to be handled by the association.

While practically all Louisville banks have assured the leaders in the co-operative movement of their willingness to help to the fullest extent of available funds, the conference today will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Penderis Club, will be devoted to completion of the plan to put the matter before every banker in the state, in order to determine just what amount of money will be forthcoming when needed by the association and to arrange for further credit from other sources.

Regional divisions of the Kentucky State Bankers' Association and the body as a whole, have made a definite statement of their support of the organization. It is the intention of the leaders in the association to deal with local banks whenever possible, and to go to the larger money markets only when they have been told by Kentucky banks that conditions justify such a move.

Louisville banks, and those in the burley belt are expected to furnish most of the money needed by the association to handle, store and market the 1921 crop, but owing to the fact that the low tobacco market last winter has depleted the funds of many institutions, it is expected that it will be necessary to get money also from other sources.

Red Roberts Tells What Centre Players Pray For

After their brilliant victory over Washington and Lee by 25 to 0 Saturday, the Centre College players remained over in Louisville. Judge Baughman entertained both teams at the Penderis Club Saturday night and Louisville alumni of Centre had the team to luncheon Sunday afternoon. Former Senator J. C. W. Beckham, Emmett O'Neal, Louis Seelbach, C. Lee Cook and Prof. George Colvin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, "Bo" McMillan, "Red" Roberts and other members of team, as well as "one" "Charley" Moran, and others spoke.

"You fellows have been saying that I have not been acting natural of late," McMillan declared after thanking the alumni members for the reception and words of praise. "But how can I be natural when yesterday's game was the last I shall ever play with Centre? I cannot express to you how much I love you all and Centre College. I would be supremely happy if I could only play with Centre all my life."

Citing the fact that Professor Colvin was the valedictorian of his class at Centre, McMillan said he gladly would give up all the honors that have been accorded him if he knew he would complete his course at the head of his class.

Members of the Centre College team visited Louisville churches and Men's Bible classes Sunday morning. McMillan made a brief talk at the meeting of the Deer Park Baptist church. Roberts spoke before Bible Class No. 23 of the First Methodist church. In touching on the custom of the Centre players to pray before and after games, Roberts said the Colonel's prayer was not to win, but for strength, energy and Divine protection from injury.

"We've always prayed that the best team might win," he declared.

NATIONAL FARM BUREAU IN SESSION

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 21—The American Farm Bureau Federation gained 227,878 members during 1920 and now numbers 967,270. J. W. Coverdale, of Chicago, executive secretary, reported to the federation's third annual convention here today. County farm bureaus included in the organization number 1,465.

The federation plans to bring the farm into the movies more extensively next year. Secretary Coverdale told the convention an effort was being made to eliminate breakage of eggs in transit on railroads, causing an annual loss of $5,000,000; to get faster train service on livestock; and to persuade carriers to increase the supply of refrigerator cars.

"At the present time approximately 16 of the wool producing states are pooling, to a greater or less degree, their 1921 clip of wool," he reported. "And we feel that perhaps more progress has been made in the line of co-operative marketing of wool than in any other agricultural commodity."

The report covered national co-operative marketing movements the federation set under way this year and reviewed in detail its other activities.

Martin Loses His Pony

Councilman-elect Charles Martin is mourning the death of his pet black pony, "Doc." Mr. Martin and his pony were familiar figures before the recent election—in fact, Mr. Martin says that he drove "Doc" to victory and he feels that he has lost one of the members of his family.

BRIAND'S DRAMATIC PLEA FOR FRANCE

And Protection Against Germany
Features Third Session of Arms Conference

Washington, Nov. 21—At the third plenary session of the arms conference here today Premier Briand dramatically outlined the position of France in relation to land armaments. He asserted France wanted real peace with Germany. He declared the imputation of critics that France sought military ascendancy in Europe a cruel reproach, and, reading from Ludendorff's book the statement that the institution of war was the creation of God, he dramatically threw the notes of his address on the table and exclaimed:

"There is Germany that has not changed her mind and for whom last war was not a decision. This Germany has kept the armistice. How can we close our eyes to this?"

He said Germany could mobilize her people tomorrow through her newly organized "police force," consisting of officers of the old army and he estimated that at least 250,000 Germans are daily receiving military instructions, and with all their machinery for mobilization at hand, he estimated Germany could raise an army of 6,000,000 or 7,000,000, and asked what would become of France if the Bolsheviks of Russia joined Germany.

Protesting he never would do anything to draw France into war, Briand added the admonition to remember that if France, through an excess of optimism, should be attacked and perhaps lost, he would be nothing more than an "abominable traitor."

Secretary Hughes previously had announced that the matter of naval disarmament is progressing favorably and that "while important declarations have been made on the Far Eastern questions, there is nothing new to report to the plenary session."

When Briand finished, Arthur James Balfour presented the viewpoint of Great Britain, but did not reply in detail, although he pledged support of Great Britain to France in the "face of just domination."

Baron Kato said Japan wanted only such an army as is "absolutely necessary for purely defensive purposes, necessitated by the Far Eastern question."

The Italian delegate said 200,000 men is Italy's just quota and plans are being made to further reduce the army.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. B. E. Belue received a wire Monday stating that Mr. Belue is critically ill at the home of his brother, Dr. Belue, in Alabama, where he had recently gone for a visit. Friends here hope to hear of an immediate improvement in his condition. Mrs. Belue left at noon for Lexington.

Dr. L. E. Bossell has returned from Paducah, where he has been for the past week attending the division assembly of Southern Association of Bell Telephone employees. Mr. Bossell was chosen as chairman of the adjustment committee, division 6, Louisville.

Mr. Julian Manpin's new home is nearing completion. The home which he vacates on Stagner Lane will be occupied next year by Mr. Crutcher Soper and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Arnold have leased the flat in the Colver building which will be vacated by the removal of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Boggs to Frankfort the first of the year.

A moving picture of the Illinois-Ohio State game may turn the tables. Illinois won 7 to 0 by a touchdown following a forward pass, but the moving picture showed that the ball touched the ground before the Illinois runner caught it and made the touchdown.

Pauper Counties Drew Half Million Excess

(By Associated Press.)
Frankfort, Nov. 21—The so-called 39 pauper counties in Kentucky received nearly half a million dollars from the state more than the total taxes collected from them during the fiscal year, according to figures compiled in the office of the State Auditor today.

(By Associated Press.)
Owensboro, Nov. 21—Two million pounds of tobacco from the Green River district were on the floors at the opening of the loose leaf market here today. All seven sales warehouses were crowded to capacity. The first sales of 14,000 pounds brought an average of $15.31 per hundred. The opening average last year was $8 per hundred. The sales today averaged $2 for trash and up to $40 for best leaf.

(By Associated Press.)
Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 21—The Owensboro tobacco market, the first to open in the tobacco season, is scheduled to begin sales today. Growers throughout the state, not only in the dark, one-shed and Green River districts, but also in the burley district are watching this market with interest as an indication of what prices manufacturers are willing to pay for the leaf crops of the state this year.

Tobacco buyers were here this morning from all sections of the state and from North Carolina.

Indications that exceptionally good prices may be received in the dark grades of tobacco grown in Western Kentucky is seen by growers in the fact that some of the buyers have been purchasing tobacco in the bays on farms at $18 for leaf and husks and $2 for trash. This price is somewhat higher than last year's average for the same grades on the loose leaf floors, and as delivery is to be made at points other than Owensboro, the long haul and consequent expense is saved.

Weather conditions in Western Kentucky has been favorable for stripping of tobacco during the last two weeks and a survey of county indicates that the floors of the six prominent warehouses here will be well-filled for the coming season. All houses opened for to receive tobacco.

Farmers and buyers here say that the Green River district has the finest tobacco crop in several years and farmers are predicting a big price at the opening sales. Last year the best grades of Green River tobacco brought from $25 to $75 a hundred pounds, with little demand for trash. The farmers are expecting better prices this year with a better demand for trash.

Approximately 30,000,000 pounds of dark tobacco was raised in the Green River district last year and sold over the Owensboro floors. This year warehouses here are expecting much tobacco from Breckinridge, Muhlenberg, Henderson and Webster counties.

It is estimated that besides the dark types, about 7,000,000 pounds of burley tobacco was raised in this district this year.

Horses and Cows Perish In Incendiary Barn Fire

Louis, Ky., Nov. 21—The incendiary who burned Jim Rice's barn removed his dependence for making a living, his team of horses and his two cows perishing in the flames. Bloodhounds were called, but could not strike a trail.

Newspaper Inaccuracies

The Director of Journalism of New York University, Dr. James M. Lee, in a recent address, answered the criticism of the inaccuracies of newspapers by stating that in the Encyclopedia Britannica, recently he had found 100 errors of fact, and that he grew tired of looking before he was through the edition. The haste with which a newspaper is prepared is the most considerable factor in the mistakes which creep in. And all newspapers make them.

FOUR MORE DAYS LEFT IN BIG OFFER

Daily Register To Print Pictures
of Leading Workers in Big Campaign

There are four more days left in which workers in the Daily Register subscription campaign may get the biggest amount of extra votes, for the $30 period will positively close on November 24th.

Most of the candidates now have friends who are interested in them and are now sending in subscriptions each day. This is what counts in this stage of the game. Three or four friends who will send in subscriptions each day, while the extra vote count three for one, will begin to show in a few days and one will be leading this race by a larger vote than has been seen since the start.

Beginning this week the Daily Register will from day to day have photographs of all the leading candidates. For are your friend who is in the race has been pictured in this campaign, for there is absolutely no excuse for not being in this race and a close competitor to the leader, as we have people each day to come to the Daily Register office and subscribe to the paper, without voting, thus showing conclusively that some one has been a vote in the job. You need not go from friends to friends, for from friends as you know for a positive fact that the Daily Register is the only paper that is out in the home is a picture.

If you will notice the spreading of the candidates' pictures in the Daily Register, you will find that many of the pictures are very close to the pictures of the candidates. This is a sign that the candidates are getting very close to the top in the race. The pictures are being spread in the homes of the candidates, and the pictures are being spread in the homes of the candidates, and the pictures are being spread in the homes of the candidates.

Taxing Laws

The State Tax Commission, in a letter to the Tax Commissioner of Daviess county, gives definite and final answer to the plea of various Farm Bureaus throughout the state for a twenty-five per cent reduction on the assessment of farm lands.

The Tax Commission does not argue (it could not) that land values have not declined as much as twenty-five per cent, during the last year, but rests its decision on the statement that they are not yet assessed at their full value. Therefore, according to the Commission, the proposed reduction of twenty-five per cent is unjustified.

For the information of its readers The News reprints the land assessment per acre in a group of Central Kentucky counties in 1917 and in 1920. These assessments were as follows:

County	Tax Val. in 1917	Tax Val. in 1920
Fayette	$88	$100
Bourbon	61	100
Woodford	63	110
Clark	46	95
Scott	38	78
Boyle	40	77
Shelby	37	69
Mercer	35	65
Franklin	30	53
Spencer	20	36
Henry	25	48
Oldham	24	35
Anderson	16	28

The above figures show that the land assessment has been raised about 100 per cent and yet there is no intelligent person who does not know that the market value of Central Kentucky land is little, if any higher, in 1921 than it was in 1917. In attempting to keep the 1921 assessment at the 1920 level, which was nearly double the 1917 assessment, is in effect doubling the tax rate on agricultural property in the state, for the land in 1921 is worth no more than it was in 1917.

It is immaterial, whether a farmer pays a forty cent tax on $100 valuation or a twenty cent tax on a $200 valuation, but when valuation is doubled without a reduction in the rate, the effect is a doubled tax rate.

That is what the Morrow administration has done to the farmers of Kentucky—Elizabeth Town News.

SPANISH TANG STICKS TO CITY

San Antonio Is Mixture of Old Spain and Mexico, and Hurling America of Today.

ALAMO, SHRINE OF TEXAS

Scene of Recent Disastrous Flood Famed in Story and Legend—Once Spanish Town Now Hurling Thriving Metropolis.

Washington, D. C.—San Antonio, Texas, scene of the latest destructive flood in the United States, is the subject of the following bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"San Antonio is an intimate mixture of old Spain and Mexico, and the bustling America of today," says the bulletin. "It began its life in 1716 as a tiny Spanish military settlement—El Presidio de San Antonio de Bexar. But that belatedly name officially lost when the town became an American community, and to many who have known it best—famous Henry—has taken on the modern name, 'San Antonio'."

Losing Its Foreign Flavor.

"A hundred years ago San Antonio was almost entirely Spanish and Mexican. Fifty years ago it could be considered only half American. Then the railroads came to quicken its life, the rich 'cow country' round about was developed, and a few far-sighted business men woke up to the fact that it was situated without competitors in the very center of a territory that would need unimagined supplies. Since that time San Antonio has grown its forests of skyscrapers and factory chimneys. The scores of its fellow American cities, approaching the 200,000 mark, and with a constant population that during the winter months, it leads all other cities in Texas, though it is closely approached by Dallas and Houston. An observer so down suddenly on Commerce or Texas street might easily imagine himself in Syracuse, Atlanta, Memphis, Dayton or any one of a dozen other cities of a similar size."

"As it has grown, San Antonio has lost most of its exotic flavor; but touches of old Spain and Mexico are still to be found in one corner or street. A few of the narrow, winding streets of the old days are left with sidewalks on which two pedestrians can hardly pass. Frolicsome who dare are to be seen behind which ever Spanish have stood as Spanish or Mexican youths played the guitar. Grand doors and gates in garden-like walls of the mission days hint at mystery. Those who like the peopled dishes of Latin America may find them of a quality not equaled outside the City of Mexico and a few of the larger cities of the southern republic."

"And in the center of the town, striding down ordinary business streets, one comes suddenly upon the historic Alamo, the 'Thermopylae of America.' Those in Texas' war for independence from Mexico, 179 American frontiersmen, held off for ten days a Mexican army of 6,000 until the last defender was killed. It is a hallowed old building raised by the hands of Franciscan monks 200 years ago as an outpost of the Christian religion among the Indians. Because of the part it played in their war of independence it is a sacred shrine to all Texans."

"A string of four other missions extending for fifteen or twenty miles down the San Antonio river represented, with the Alamo and the Presidio and the village of San Antonio, all that there was of civilization in that part of Texas 200 years ago. Antiquable houses now which tourists over the mission loop and they clamber over the crumbling walls and look over the light Spanish games—Puritan Conception, San Jose, San Francisco de la Espada, and San Juan Capistrano."

River Hidden by Business Buildings.
"A visitor to San Antonio could hardly imagine destruction from the San Antonio river. He might even imagine that the city has no river at all, only a creek. In the forest of modern business buildings the river is as effectively hidden as is the Genesee in Rochester. The San Antonio rises practically within the city limits, gushing full grown from rocky fountains. Its narrow bed has been paved, and it meanders sluggishly through the city for all the world like a medium-sized irrigation ditch. In stroll through the business district one will cross the little stream half a dozen times in going less than a score of blocks."

"San Antonio's little river has always added a picturesque touch to the city. Throughout the business district the banks of the wall-confined stream have been park-like, and groups pause constantly on the many little bridges to admire the sloping, close-cropped lawns set with flower beds and shaded by tall, deep green clumps of banana trees."

Tall Husband.
Port Arthur, Can.—Jane Van Albert, who has become a bride, will always look up to her husband. He is nine feet five inches tall and she is five feet four. They went to school together in Holland and met recently at Winnipeg when the circus that employs Van Albert was there."

Help Protect Your Service

Since Bell invented the first telephone there have been almost a hundred types of Bell Telephone designed to combine strength, simplicity and utility.

Your desk telephone has more than a hundred parts and is built like a watch. Some of its mechanism is as delicate as a watch.

Unstinted effort on the part of the company keeps your telephone equipment in condition for instant service.

One of the ways in which you can help your service is by never leaving your telephone where it is liable to be knocked to the floor and damaged, and by never leaving it near an open window where rain may put it out of service.

MENNONITES ARE MOVING TO MEXICO

(By Associated Press)

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 19.—One of the largest migrations of Christian people of modern history is that of about 200,000 Mennonites, 50,000 families, from Canada to Mexico, which will begin in December. Their trek is expected to last two years.

The Mennonites for the past year have been looking for a new home, claiming unjust treatment in Canada during the world war. Eight nations have invited them. Land "sharps," "boomers" and others have tried to influence them.

After a dozen trips to Mexico, during which representatives conferred with President Alvaro Obregon and officials of the Mexican immigration service, the leaders almost decided to settle in Mexico. Then editorials from various sources, save Mexican, declared the Mennonites were "making a mistake," that religious freedom which they sought could not be guaranteed them under the Mexican constitution. Another trip was made to Mexico and state and national governments assured the Mennonites that they would worship God as they pleased, that they could hold all the tenets of their religion and could enter that country and make their permanent home.

Canadian Mennonites hold the same belief as early members of the sect who settled in the United States—that of non-resistance. The Mennonites, in defending their belief, declared that they suffered less in the early days at the hands of the Indians than did others who waged warfare against the savages.

The Mennonites still refuse to enter any war.

Another peculiar custom of these people is the washing of feet. They say the command of Christ to the woman to wash His feet stands on the same spiritual level as His acts of distributing food and drink to the hungry and thirsty. To the Mennonites the story related by St. Luke is comparable to the ones of other Christians regard, including the Sacrament and communion.

Community property is another belief of some Mennonites, although it is not general. The members of the sect cooperate in building roads, school houses and churches.

The removal of the Mennonites to America came about when William Penn had been granted land for his Quaker followers. He was told of Mennonites who had fled from Germany to Holland and his Quakers came to their aid. The Quakers are credited with helping them financially and in colonizing parts of Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. Later, colonies were established in Saskatchewan and other parts of Canada. During the past year a few of the sect have settled in Florida.

For years there were 14 independent bodies of Mennonites, but years ago the sect was reunited.

The Mennonites will settle in Chihuahua and Durango, principally in the former state. Options have been taken on land in both states and improvements are being made on one large tract, the Bustillos hacienda, or ranch, near Bustillos and Chihuahua City. The colonists have paid 25,000 pesos to hold this tract, the money being on deposit to the credit of the Zuloaga family, heirs of the large land owner, Carlos Zuloaga. The purchase price is 600,000 pesos.

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Nov. 21.—A poem by a Kentuckian to commemorate Kentucky's heroes of the World War, is sought by the Executive Committee of the Memorial Building Committee. Announcement of a contest, open to Kentuckians, was made here today by Prof. L. L. Dantzler, Lexington, chairman of the committee on awards. The prize is to be fifty dollars in gold. The contest will close January 10, 1922.

No restrictions have been placed on the form or length of the poem which must be submitted to Herbert Graham, manager of the building campaign, Lexington. Each contributor will submit five copies of his composition, unmarked, but accompanied by a letter of identification. The contest is open to all citizens of Kentucky and persons residing in the state.

The committee which will select the winning poem is composed of Prof. Dantzler, chairman; Boyd Martin, Louisville; Prof. C. E. Freeman, Lexington; Dr. B. A. Wise, Danville, and Prof. W. B. Jones, Georgetown.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOLS TO CLASH TUESDAY

The most interesting game of football of the season will be staged on the Normal gridiron Tuesday between Madison and Normal High Schools. Both teams won their last games and are primed for the big battle. Coach Hembree of Normal Hi, and Coach Lassiter of Madison, are putting forth their best efforts to pull their schools through as winners. Supporters of both teams are predicting their respective schools a winner. Normal Hi has the best record for the season, however. The Madison boys seem just to have found themselves and the game will be the most keenly contested one on the Normal field this season. A number of Normal Hi warriors witnessed the game between Centre and Washington Lee at Louisville Saturday. Coach Lassiter was also there. The local fans might see some of Saturday's plays here when the two clash.

Normal Hi has secured the scalp of Hustonville, Middleboro, Paint Lick and Clark County Hi, losing to Lancaster and Winchester. Madison has succeeded in beating Nicholasville and Clark County Hi, losing to Midway, Lancaster, Hustonville, and to Mt. Sterling twice. Madison showed great form in besting Nicholasville Friday and the Madison backers expect great things of her in the Normal game.

Coach Hembree's men are working hard to win their last game of the season. They have confidence in themselves, but are not over confident. Having made a success of football again this season, they hope to take the measure of their ancient rivals. Every man of the Normal Hi squad is in good condition and ready for the big game. A record breaking crowd is expected to attend.

Launched in 1906, at a cost of almost $10,000,000, the British battleship, Dreadnought, was recently scrapped and sold for $200,000.

Irish immigrants to the number of 4,338,199 left their native shores for other lands between Women cannot stand physical strain as well as men, according to a local specialist, who lays blame on a weaker nerve center.

Hops were grown this year on 25,120 acres in Britain, an increase of more than 4,000 acres on 1920, which shows there will be no diminution of beer for the working man.

JUDGE ALDEN SPEAKS HERE ON NOV. 29

The Richmond City Schools announce the coming of Judge George D. Alden on Tuesday evening, November 29th, at the court house. Judge Alden is one of the foremost of America's lecturers today. He ranks with Dewitt Miller Col. Bain and Montaville Flowers. He has two great lectures, on the "Needs of the Home," and the other "The Powder and the Match."

He comes from Boston and is a descendant of John and Priscilla Alden, of Mayflower fame. President Harding has the following to say of Judge Alden: "I have heard Judge Alden twice. He handles the intricate subjects of life with a boldness that might offend were it not given with the evident purpose of uplift and enlightenment. He does not 'hint,' he speaks with an utter freedom of language bold but beautiful, caustic but chaste; the truths which he seeks to impart are driven home with a force which thorough conviction alone can give. I was charmed with his subtle humor and admired the beauty of his diction."

COLORED CHRISTIAN CHURCH IS BURNED

As a result of what firemen say was too hot a fire left in a stove, the colored Christian church in the East End of town, was totally destroyed by fire about 1 o'clock Monday morning. The fire department responded promptly to the call for aid, but owing to the hold that the flames had gotten on the frame building, it was soon seen that nothing could be done to save it. So the fire fighters devoted their efforts to saving dwellings in the neighborhood. By hard work, they did so, and prevented many families of colored folks from being turned out in the cold.

The church building destroyed has been used by the colored Baptist to worship in while their new home has been under construction. The loss is said to be close to a thousand dollars or so, and with no insurance. The colored Christian congregation is said to be very small at present and to have been without a pastor for some time.

MRS. COOMER'S FOWLS LEAD IN STATE TEST

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Nov. 21.—A flock of sixteen barred Plymouth Rock hens owned by Mrs. W. O. Kirk of Philpot, led the state's 47 demonstration poultry flocks in October egg production with an average record of 14.8 eggs produced by each hen during that time, according to announcement by J. H. Martin in charge of poultry work at the College of Agriculture, 77 White Wyandottes, owned by Mrs. J. T. Wilson, Corydon, composed the second flock among the ten highest producing ones in the month, each having produced an average of 13.1 eggs. A flock of 204 Brown Leghorns belonging to H. M. Lattrell, Paducah, was third on the list with an average production of 11.4 eggs for each of the hens.

The first three flocks on the list of ten were the leading ones for their respective breeds during the month, according to the announcement. The leading flock of White Leghorns was owned by John Reid, Owensboro, his flock of 144 birds having produced an average of seven eggs a hen during the month.

Seventy-three Rhode Island Red hens owned by Mrs. R. C. Coomer, Speedwell, led the flocks of that breed with an average of 5.5 eggs a hen for the 73 hens in the flock.

The standing of the flocks below the first three, with their owners and egg production for the month follow: Forty eight White Wyandottes, A. J. Kern, Jeffersontown, 8.7 eggs; 55 Plymouth Rocks, Mrs. A. C. Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

HOW CODY GOT NICKNAME OF "BUFFALO BILL"

When the Kansas Pacific railroad was being built through Kansas in 1867-68 it was necessary to provide food for an army of more than 1,500 men. A source of supply was near at hand—vast herds of buffalo—and men were hired to do nothing else but kill these animals for food, that of the best-known of the hunters was William Frederick Cody, a young frontiersman who had been a pony express rider and guide for General Custer.

The work was dangerous, for the Indians did all they could to stop progress on the railroad. They especially hated these hunters who killed more buffalo in one day than they destroyed in a week, and Cody took his life in his hands every time he went out. The soon became such an expert hunter that the railroad men gave him the nickname of "Buffalo Bill."

During Cody's career as a buffalo hunter, a period of 18 months, he killed a total of 4,280 bison. The greatest exploit was his victory over Billy Constock, a scout and rival hunter. The match was arranged by officers of Fort Wallace to decide which of the two men was the greatest slayer of bison. They were to hunt one day of eight hours, and the man who killed the greatest number of the animals was to be declared the champion buffalo hunter.

A herd was found and separated into two bunches. Cody immediately began riding at the head of his bunch, shooting the leaders and crowding the followers in toward the center of an ever-narrowing circle. In a short time he had killed 38, all of whom lay down over a small area. Constock had begun shooting at the rear of his herd and, although he killed 23, they were scattered over a distance of three miles. Two more herds were found and when the final count was made Cody had 63 and Constock 46.

Later Cody became a famous scout and guide. He served with General Custer in Kansas and General Carr in Colorado. Cody was known as "The Lashin-Long Hair" by the Sioux, who had great respect for his prowess.

After the Indian wars ended Buffalo Bill organized his Wild West show, which added to his fame not only in America, but in Europe as well. After seventy-two years of life crowded with adventure, he died January 10, 1917. He is buried on Lookout Mountain near Denver, Colorado.
